Physical Security Assessment

Most public sector organizations put a lot of effort into building an effective physical security policy. They strive to incorporate Federal, State or local regulatory requirements while addressing industry standards and best practices. Most of these policies are well intended but unfortunately, the true value of policy is rarely ever realized. The most common roadblock is a lack of awareness. Gary Hummel, ISO of the California Department of Alcohol and Drug Program will speak about physical security from an employee awareness perspective. Mr. Hummel will be joined by John Piccininni, Vice President of Sales, Hirsch Electronics. Mr. Piccininni will discuss the convergence of physical and IT security in today's climate. He will help make sense of the industry's changes and discuss technologies that can help security control systems communicate with other systems, such as human resources, IT network privileges, visitor management and more. The last speaker for the event is Lynda McGhie of Science Applications International Corporation (SAIC). Ms. McGhie will discuss how to effectively evaluate the physical security of your facilities and systems and help you to understand the benefits of conducting this assessment.
